WOMAN WITNESS TELLS OF QUARREL

Coroner's Jury Adjourns
Without Verdict After Hearing Testimony More Than Six Hours.

Mystery which shrouded the death of Todd, 21, Clemson College senior, whose body was found early Sunday morning on the court roof of a downtown hotel, became more intense Sunday night as a coroner's jury after hearing testimony of numerous witnesses for more than six hours Sunday afternoon and night, adjourned until 9 o'clock this afternoon.

Todd, one of a party of Clemson students stopping at the hotel, had occupied rooms on the sixth floor on the court side of the hotel. Todd had fallen two stories, or a little more than 20 feet, it was reported.

The young man, who came to Atlanta to witness the Tech-Clemson football game here Saturday afternoon, was last seen alive at 1 o'clock Sunday morning, when his companions, who testified at the coroner's inquest, requested that he be locked in the hotel room because he was not in fit condition to go with them to get something to eat, they said.

His companions were H. L. Bryan, of Hartsville, S. C.; T. Kolb, of Charleston, S. C.; and J. L. Sanders, of Clemson College. They said they were not alarmed when they returned to the room and found Todd not there, believing that he had merely left the hotel. They said they knew nothing of his death until advised early this morning by the hotel management.

Bryan testified that the four students left Clemson College in his automobile and came to Atlanta Saturday afternoon to attend the football game. When they returned to the hotel, planning to return to the college today.

Todd's identification first was established by a ring on his finger which gave his name, address, and showed he was a senior at the institution. The other three also are members of the senior class.

Atlanta Detective J. T. Woodruff said officers were working on a theory of possible foul play. Woodruff said further investigation was being made into the findings that the body was found underneath the window of a room adjoining the one which Todd occupied.

Officers also said the room in which Todd was left by his companions was locked.

Among the witnesses questioned were two young women, Mrs. C. L. Knight, and Miss Ruth Yancey, who both gave their addresses as the hotel and who said they visited Todd's room. Mrs. Knight testified at the inquest that Todd had accused her of stealing his pocketbook and had struck her a blow in the mouth, causing it to bleed. Officers said this apparently accounted for bloodstains which were found on linen in the room.

Investigators testified that Mrs. Knight, after returning to her room in the hotel, had put in 10 telephone calls during the night. Recipients of these calls were being checked.

Todd's father arrived Sunday night from the family home in Laurens, S. C., and, after making arrangements for the body to be sent back to Laurens Sunday night, departed for his home in an automobile. He stepped into the room where the inquest was being held, remained for a few minutes and then left.

Gang Warfare Victim Slain While Kneeling

CHICAGO, Sept. 30.—(UP)—

Another chapter in the story of Chicago gang warfare was written Saturday in a dank South Side alley where the body of Edward Meehan was found, kneeling as though in prayer.

Meehan, 30-year-old second-rate gangster, had been shot twice in the head by assassins who apparently forced their victim to kneel before them for the assassination.

Powder burns on Meehan's head indicated the gun that killed him was held only a few inches away.

5 KILLED, 10 HURT IN AUTO ACCIDENTS DURING WEEK-END

Automobile Fatalities
Claim 2 Near Bremen, 2
in Colquitt; Augustan
Dies in Freak Wreck.

Five persons were killed and ten were injured, one reported near death, in automobile accidents in Georgia during the week-end.

The dead: Mrs. John Rogers, of Raleigh, N. C.; John Croft, 20, of Colquitt county; W. R. Clark, 35, also of Colquitt; J. C. Kenny, of Villa Rica, and Henderson Gresham, of Augusta.

The injured: John Rogers, of Raleigh, N. C., badly cut and a broken arm; Robert Rainwater, his nephew, cuts about the body; Edward Wright, of Villa Rica, a broken skull; Gordon Hamrick, of Villa Rica, bruises; five persons were injured when a head-on collision near Moultrie, and Carl Hagen, of Augusta, who mistook a reflection of his own lights for an on-coming automobile and ran into it.

Mrs. John Rogers was killed when the automobile also carrying her husband, John Rogers, and her nephew, Robert Rainwater, collided with a car containing Kenny, Wright and Hamrick, of Villa Rica, near Bremen yesterday morning.

John Croft was rushed to a community hospital at Villa Rica where Mrs. Rogers and Kenny, suffering crushed skulls and broken legs, died. Hospital attaches said that the condition of Wright is critical.

Mr. Rogers, a chief mechanic mate in the navy, was on a recruiting tour en route from Norfolk, Va., to New Orleans. He is a former Atlantan, having lived here until 20 years ago when he moved to Raleigh, N. C.

John Croft, 20, lost his life near Moultrie Saturday night when a truck loaded with cotton was side-swiped by the trailer of another truck which was trying to dodge a wagon. Croft was killed when the cotton bale fell into a ditch, the cotton bale tumbling down upon him, crushing him to death.

W. R. Clark, 35, was standing by a Colquitt county roadside inspecting the wreckage of a wagon which had been hit by a truck, and talking to several persons who were in it when a car driven by J. P. Williams, member of the board of Colquitt county commissioners struck him. He was hurled about 20 feet and instantly killed. The wagon Clark had been inspecting contained five persons who were injured when an accident occurred between them and a truck driven by Claude Bennett, just previously.

Henderson Gresham, 32, moving picture operator, was killed instantly and Carl Hagen was seriously injured early Sunday morning when their automobile overturned on the Savannah road a few miles from Augusta.

Hagen was driving the car, officers said, after making arrangements for the body to be sent back to Laurens Sunday night, departed for his home in an automobile. He stepped into the room where the inquest was being held, remained for a few minutes and then left.

SPENDING RECORDS OF ALIEN STUDIED IN LINDBERGH CASE

Six Notebooks Give Detailed Account of Expenditures of Bruno Hauptmann.

NEW YORK, Sept. 30.—A detailed study of six notebooks in which Bruno Richard Hauptmann methodically jotted down his household and financial records is being undertaken, it was disclosed today, in a search for new evidence on the passing of Lindbergh ransom notes.

District Attorney Samuel J. Foley, of the Bronx, has guarded carefully the contents of memoranda found in the apartment of Hauptmann, already indicted for extorting the $200,000 ransom.

The records are understood, however, to have furnished clues as to where the ransom money was hidden, some of the gold notes which have not yet come to light.

Proprietors of these stores will be questioned tomorrow, it was reported.

See As "Keys."

The books—some labeled "memorandum" and others "addresses"—are regarded as one of the potential keys in the case Foley and his staff are attempting to build. Hauptmann's trial is expected to start in two weeks unless New Jersey officials first move for extradition on murder or kidnapping charges.

The memoranda, it was said unofficially, contain Hauptmann's expenditures from a date before the kidnapping until recent weeks.

"There are entries concerning certain items largely listed in the order of their occurrence," Foley said, "and it is a matter of evidence and I don't like to discuss it."

The Daily News said it learned five ransom bills have been deposited in New York banks since Hauptmann's arrest 13 days ago.

Although granting the possibility the notes might have been passed by Hauptmann, it was taken into custody, the paper said, detectives were working on the theory that a confederate is getting rid of the remainder of the money.

"In the event of the recovery of such bills," he added, "I believe I would be notified."

As Foley sought recreation at a ball game, Hauptmann passed an uneventful Sabbath in his Bronx jail cell.

Prisoner Watched.

The prisoner was closely watched to foil any attempt at suicide.

Meanwhile nine patrolmen were on duty at the Hauptmann home in the Bronx to keep Sunday sightseers at distance. Automobile and pedestrian traffic became heavy during the afternoon, although the crowds were smaller than last Sunday.

An extortion affidavit on which the prisoner was arraigned last week will be dismissed tomorrow in West Side court on Foley's application. An indictment by the Bronx county grand jury supersedes it. The prisoner will not appear in court, officials said.

Walls of Hauptmann's apartment also will be examined tomorrow to ascertain if more of the ransom bills are hidden there. So far $14,590 has been recovered. The district attorney's drive to complete his case also will bring during the week a mental examination of Hauptmann by a team of psychiatrists and an application by Foley for selection of a special jury panel of 200 men.

Foley denied published reports that Colonel Lindbergh had tentatively identified Hauptmann as the masked man who peered into his car the night Dr. Condon paid the $200,000 ransom.

Collier Will Dedicate Indian Exposition Today

U. S. Indian Commissioner, Former Atlantan,
To View Village; "Children's Day" Today
at Southeastern Fair.

Dedication today of the Indian village at Southeastern Fair and American Indian exposition during impressive ceremonies in which John Collier, United States Indian commissioner, and former Atlantan, will take an important part, and School Day activities on the fair grounds mark the second day of the 1934 exposition de luxe which opened Sunday.

A total of 25,269 persons crowded the park for the opening, the official count Sunday night showed. Except when the fair has opened with School Day programs, it was the largest opening day crowd ever assembled at the park, it was said.

All schools in Atlanta and Fulton county will be closed today in order that pupils may take advantage of the special arrangements made for their attendance at the fair today.

For years he has fought a militant battle for Indian rights and Monday will visit the model Indian village at the fair where over 100 Indians from Florida, Carolina and the far west are encamped, and where the valuable governmental exhibit of Indian arts and crafts is on display.

Many of the leading Indian artists and handicraft workers are among the exhibitors, the Brooklyn Dodgers, the Cardinals, last year's winners, faltered, fumbled and lost the title that two short weeks ago had seemed theirs for the asking.

The Cardinals' triumph earned them the right to meet Detroit, champion of the American league, in the World Series, the first game of which is to be played Wednesday at the Michigan metropolis. Detroit clinched the title more than a week ago.

The Cardinals, leading by one game coming into today's final schedule, made it two full games to the good by defeating the Cincinnati Reds, 9 to 0. Jerome (Dizzy) Dean, returning to the mound after only one day's rest, scored his 30th victory and seventh shutout of the season as he allowed the Reds only seven hits.

The Giants dribbled away an early lead to lose to their untrifled neighbors, the Brooklyn Dodgers. The score was 8 to 5, in 10 innings.

Plenty of Drama.

Even if the Giants had won today they still would have failed by the game even to have tied for the pennant. So, all the commotion at the Polo Grounds which delighted and lured the 4,005 cash spectators, was nothing much more or less than a ball game but it was a game jammed with thrills, drama and suspense.

Nor was all of the excitement confined to the first half of it was found on the huge score boards which recorded, inning by inning, the Cardinals' final crushing win over the Reds.

Presentations of the two measures, based on favorable referenda in last Wednesday's primary will be the main events of the afternoon session, according to predictions Sunday.

Alderman I. Glover Hale, of the night watch, will offer the daylight saving measure, while the councilman Howard C. McCutcheon, of the second ward, will sponsor the repeal effort.

McCutcheon was author of the council resolution requesting the city democratic executive committee to seek an expression of Atlanta voters on institution of daylight saving time in Atlanta, and McCutcheon championed the repeal resolution which precipitated the overwhelming sentiment in favor of repeal.

Won in Primary.

Daylight saving time repeal won victory in the primary, while repeal won by a vote of nearly two-to-one.

Both McCutcheon and Hale hold that the results of the referenda are mandates to council to take action toward placing the will of the people into effect. McCutcheon has been backed by Mayor James L. Key in his contention that local members of the general assembly should not hesitate to subscribe to immediate repeal without any further referenda on the repeal issue.

Repeal got 3,433 votes for to only 3,502 against, while daylight time retained 7,890 for to 5,221 against.

Mayor Key will approve the daylight time ordinance because he said he regarded the result of the referenda as a definite expression of Atlantans regarding the issue. He has stood for repeal of the state day laws for many months and also will sanction the resolution regarding that issue.

Other Business.

The only council matter slated to face council will be a request by G. P. Donnellan asking reconsideration of a council resolution abrogating the contract to reconstruct the city garage, destroyed by fire.

The contract was canceled in a dispute between council and Donnellan over the wage scale and the time of the improvement. He expressed the belief that differences can be adjusted in a rehearing, and requests council to permit that procedure.

No October finance sheet will be presented to council this afternoon unless leaders change their plans. The budget commission will meet at 10:30 o'clock this morning in the office of the mayor to study city finances. Although few budgetary changes are contemplated it is regarded as unlikely that any acceptable budget, once prepared, will be submitted to council at this afternoon's session.

NEW YORK, Sept. 30.—(UP)—Blazing down the home stretch on one of the most brilliantly sustained scoring streaks recorded in major league baseball, the St. Louis Cardinals today became 1934 champions of the National league, while the New York Giants, last year's winners, faltered, fumbled and lost the title that two short weeks ago had seemed theirs for the asking.

Ransom Money Finder Names Son for Lindy

NEW YORK, Sept. 30.—(UP)—

Charles Augustus Lyons was reported "doing fine" at Misericordia hospital today, 24 hours after his entrance into the world.

He is the son of John Lyons, one of the filling station men who detected the gold note tendered by Bruno Richard Hauptmann and whose suspicions led to Hauptmann's arrest. Lyons, who expects a share in reward money if Hauptmann is convicted, named his son after Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh.

LABOR PROPOSES NRA ADJUSTMENT TO AD BUSINESS

30-Hour Week, Minimum Wage Laws, Old Age Security Favored in Legislative Program.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 30.—(AP)—The American Federation of Labor, through its executive committee, called today for a "major adjustment" in the nation's economic organization and an increased tempo by business that would "use the capacity of our industries."

In its report on the year's activities to the annual convention of the federation, the council also urged that NRA codes be further amended to increase employment and boost wages.

A broad legislative program was proposed, including a 30-hour week, minimum wage laws, old age security and ratification of the constitutional amendment to outlaw child labor.

The council said organized labor must be "forever opposed" to "currency inflation as the method of recovery" and it viewed the increased national debt with "alarm and misgiving."

Saying that the year's progress toward recovery had "fallen far short of what we had hoped" and that "ten millions are without jobs," the report gave a view of what organized labor believes necessary.

New Standard Needed.

"We need a new vision of American living standards and a plan for growth of consuming power which would lift every American worker to a health and efficiency level and millions to a comfort level of living."

The demand for our products could then be met by a new standard of living. The NRA should be reorganized from the point of view of a longer period than that to June 15, 1935. It becomes increasingly evident that some action will be necessary for policies a long time to come. Policies should therefore be considered from a long-time rather than a purely emergency point of view.

Codes should be reopened for such NRA will bring about the original purpose of the act—re-employment and increased wages.

Codes should be reopened upon initiative by labor as well as upon the initiative of industry or the administration.

Compliance machinery should be divorced more completely from the NRA administration. An independent compliance board, answerable directly to the president, would be better able to assure unbiased and prompt action.

"Every resource of the government should be used to the fullest for the purpose of the enforcement."

WASHINGTON, Sept. 30.—(AP)—President Roosevelt tonight appealed for an armistice in the year's recurring conflicts between capital and labor while the second, and still experimental, phase of NRA produces legislation permanently safeguarding the rights of each.

The chief executive again carried the accomplishments and purposes of the New Deal directly to the people in an address broadcast to all sections of the nation asking for patriotic and whole-hearted co-operation.

Definition of Liberty.

In what many immediately interpreted as an answer to former President Herbert Hoover's recent magazine article entitled "A Challenge to Liberty," Mr. Roosevelt explained his idea of the kind of "liberty" most desirable.

"I am not for a return to that definition of liberty under which for many years a free people were being gradually regimented into the service of the privileged few," he said. "I prefer, and I am sure you prefer, that broader definition of liberty under which we are moving forward to greater freedom, to greater security for the average man than has ever known before in the history of America."

Mr. Hoover's article in the Saturday Evening Post referred to "economic regimentation" and centralization of powers in the hands of the executive. Such a program, he asserted, is "usurpation of the primary liberties of man by government."

"Accordingly," he said, "I propose to confer within the coming month with small groups of those truly representative of large employers of labor and of large groups of organized labor, in order to seek their cooperation in establishing what I may describe as a specific trial period of industrial peace."

From those willing to join in establishing this hoped for period of peace, I shall seek assurances of the making and maintenance of agreements, which can be mutually relied upon.

Trial of Sam Insull Slated for Tuesday

CHICAGO, Sept. 30.—(AP)—Samuel Insull Sr., middlewestern utilities magnate whose fall was a financial debacle of 1932, goes on trial Tuesday.

Insull, a big business executive since 1900 and builder of a power and light system which flourished in 37 states, must defend himself from criminal charges which could mean ending his career as a prisoner with a possible total sentence of 125 years and a total fine of $250,000.

He will sit down in the United States court of northern Illinois at 10 o'clock with 16 business associates, including his son, Samuel Jr. Then for ten weeks or more, attorneys will fight out a question—Was Insull's last venture a legitimate action or was it a $163,000,000 swindle?

The view of the federal government's prosecutors, expressed in trying to extradite Insull from Greece last October, was:

"Insull hypnotized the public to build his super-company."

When District Judge James Herbert Wilkerson's clerk calls case 26-900 it will mark the end of a two-year fight to bring Insull to trial.

The aged man, 74 years old, has tried to fend off the charges in the courts for three years.

Man Admits Hurling Wife Beneath Train

RUSSELLVILLE, Ark., Sept. 30.—(AP)—Sheriff J. Leonard Bell, of Pope county, announced tonight that Thelma Vance had been apprehended at Pottsville, five miles east of here, and had confessed to slaying his wife and throwing her body beneath a freight train near Fisher, Ark., two weeks ago.

The body of the woman which had been held at Harrisburg since it was discovered September 21, was identified as Mrs. Vance today by relatives.

Officers took Vance into custody late tonight and they said his confession was made shortly afterward.

Ship's Crew Subdues Fire in Hold at Sea

NEW YORK, Sept. 30.—(AP)—The steamer Koenigstein off the coast of Nova Scotia bound for New York from Antwerp, wireless Radiomarine Corporation today that fire was on her hold but was believed under control.

The message gave no details, but reported the ship's position as 42.10 degrees north and 62.20 degrees west, a point southeast of Nova Scotia.

The steamer, operated by the Arnold Bernstein Line, is a twin screw vessel of 15,000 tons displacement. She is 459 feet long, with a beam of 59 feet and has five passenger decks.

The vessel, which entered the line's service in July for service between New York, Antwerp and Havre, was built especially to carry uncrated automobiles as cargo.

Two Tied to Beds By Hotel Robbers

TAMPA, Fla., Sept. 30.—(AP)—Two daring young robbers followed guests into two downtown Tampa hotels tonight and after binding them to beds with sheets stole their valuables.

Police said the holdup men used the same methods of two bandits who invaded three Miami hotels last night.

The robbers got $12, a watch and a pair of shoes from the first victim and $20 from the second.

Roosevelt's Radio Address On Affairs of Industry

WASHINGTON, Sept. 30.—(AP) The text of President Roosevelt's speech tonight:

Three months have passed since I talked with you shortly after the adjournment of the congress. Tonight I continue that report, though, because of the shortness of time, I must defer a number of subjects to a later date.

Recently the most notable public questions that have concerned us all have had to do with industry and labor, and with respect to these, certain developments have taken place which I consider of importance. I am happy to report that after years of uncertainty, culminating in the collapse of the spring of 1933, we are bringing order out of the old chaos with a greater certainty of the employment of labor at a reasonable wage and of more business at a fair profit. These governmental and industrial developments hold promise of new achievements for the nation.

Men may differ as to the particular form of governmental activity with respect to industry and business, but nearly all are agreed that private enterprise in times such as these cannot be left without assistance and without reasonable safeguards lest it destroy not only itself but also our processes of civilization. The underlying necessity for such activity is indeed as strong now as it was years ago when Elihu Root said the following very significant words:

WORDS OF ELIHU ROOT
CITED BY PRESIDENT.
"Instead of the give and take of free individual contract, the tremendous power of organization has combined great aggregations of capital in enormous industrial establishments working through vast agencies of commerce and employing great masses of men in movements of production and transportation and trade, so great in the mass that each individual concerned in them is quite helpless by himself. The relations between the employer and the employee, between the owners of aggregated capital and the units of organized labor, between the small producer, the small trader, the consumer, and the great transporting and manufacturing and distributing agencies, all present new questions for the solution of which the old reliance upon the free action of individual will appear quite inadequate. And in many directions, the intervention of that organized control which we call government seems necessary to produce the same result of justice and right conduct which obtained through the attrition of individuals before the new conditions arose."

It was in this spirit that I described by Secretary Root that we approached our task of reviving private enterprise in March, 1933. Our first problem was, of course, the banking situation because, as you know, the banks had collapsed. Some banks could not be saved, but the great majority of them, either through their own resources or with government aid, have been restored to complete public confidence. This has given safety to millions of depositors in these banks. Closely following this great constructive effort, we have, through various federal agencies, saved debtors and creditors alike in many other fields of enterprise, such as loans on farm mortgages and home mortgages; loans to the railroads and insurance companies and, finally, help to home owners and industry itself.

LOANS TO BUSINESS ON BUSINESS-LIKE BASIS.

In all of these efforts the government has come to the assistance of business and with the full expectation that the money used to assist these enterprises will eventually be repaid. I believe it will be.

The second step we have taken in the restoration of normal business enterprise has been to clean up thoroughly unwholesome conditions in the field of investment. In this we have had assistance from many bankers and businessmen, most of whom recognize the past evils in the banking system, in the sale of securities, in the deliberate encouragement of stock gambling, in the sale of unsound mortgages and in many other ways in which the public billions of dollars. They saw that without changes in the policies and methods of investment there could be no recovery of public confidence in the security of savings. The country now enjoys the safety of bank savings under the new banking laws, the careful checking of new securities under the securities act, and the curtailment of bank stock speculation through the securities exchange act. I sincerely hope that as a result people will be discouraged in unwholesome efforts to get rich quick by speculating in securities. The average person almost always loses. Only a very small minority of the people of this country believe in gambling as a substitute for the old philosophy of Benjamin Franklin that the way to wealth is through work.

RESULTS OF OPERATION UNDER NRA PROGRAM.

In meeting the problems of industrial recovery the chief agency of the government has been the national recovery administration. Under its guidance, trades and industries covering over 90 per cent of all industrial employees have adopted codes of fair competition, which have been approved by the president. Under these codes, in the industries covered, child labor has been eliminated. The work day and the work week have been shortened. Minimum wages have been established and other wages adjusted toward a rising standard of living. The recovery purpose of the NRA was to put men to work and since its creation more than 4,000,000 persons have been re-employed, in the part through the co-operation of American business brought about under the codes. Benefits of the industrial recovery program have come, not only to labor in the form of new jobs, in relief from overwork and in relief from underpay, but also to the owners and managers of industry because, together with a great increase in the pay rolls, there has come a substantial rise in the total of industrial profits—a fact from a deficit figure in the first quarter of 1933 to a level of sustained profits within one year from the inauguration of NRA.

OBJECTIVES OF NRA NOT FULLY ATTAINED.

Now it should not be expected that even employed labor and capital would be completely satisfied with present conditions. Employed workers have not by any means all enjoyed a return to the earnings of prosperous times; although millions of hitherto unemployed workers are today far better paid than ever before. Also, billions of dollars of invested capital have today a greater security of present and future earning power than before. This is because of the establishment of fair, competitive standards and because of relief from unfair competition in wage cutting which depresses markets and destroys purchasing power. But it is an undeniable fact that the recovery of other billions of sound investments to a reasonable earning power could not be brought about in one year. There is no magic formula, no economic panacea, which could simply revive overnight the heavy industries and the trades dependent upon them.

Nevertheless the gains of trade and industry, as a whole, have been substantial. In these gains and in the policies of the administration there are assurances that hereafter all forward-looking men and women with the confidence that we are definitely rebuilding our political and economic system on the lines laid down by the New Deal—lines which, as I have so often made clear, are in complete accord with the underlying principles of orderly popular government which Americans have demanded since the white man first came to these shores. We count, in the future as in the past, on the driving power of individuals and the incentive of fair private profit, strengthened with the acceptance of those obligations to the public interest which rest upon us all. We have the confidence that this driving power will be given patriotically and wholeheartedly to our nation.

SECOND PHASE OF NRA NOW CONFRONTS NATION.

We have passed through the first phase of the NRA, a period of national recovery administration and have effected a reorganization of the NRA suited to the needs of the next phase, which is, in turn, a period of general adjustment and the preparation for legislation which will determine its permanent form.

In this recent reorganization we have recognized three distinct functions. First, the legislative or policy making function. Second, the administrative function of code making and revision and, third, the judicial function of settling disputes between employers and employees and between one employer and another. We are now prepared to move into this second phase, on the basis of our experience in the first phase under able and energetic leadership of General Johnson.

We shall watch carefully the working of this new machinery for the second phase of NRA, modifying it where it needs modification and finally making recommendations to the congress, in order that the functions of NRA, which have proved their worth in the past, may be made permanent machinery of government.

OWN NRA PROVISIONS WRITTEN BY INDUSTRY.

Let me call attention to the fact that the national industrial recovery act gave businessmen the opportunity they had sought for years to improve business conditions through what has been called self-government in industry. If the codes which have been written have been too complicated and they have gone too far in such matters as price-fixing and limitation of production, let it be remembered that so far as possible, consistent with the immediate public interest of this next year and the vital necessity of improving labor conditions, the representatives of trade and industry were permitted to write their ideas into the codes. It is now time to review these actions as a whole to determine through deliberative means in the light of the experience, from the past year, of the good of the industries themselves, as well as the general public interest, whether the methods and policies adopted in the past year have been best calculated to promote industrial recovery and a permanent improvement of business and labor conditions. This may be a serious question as to the wisdom of many of these devices to control production, or to prevent destructive price-cutting, or to encourage business organizations have insisted were necessary, or whether their effect may have been to prevent that volume of production which we shall need to meet the needs of our country.

Close ally to the NRA is the program of public works provided for in the same act and designed to put more men back to work, both directly on the public works themselves, and indirectly in the industries supplying the materials for these public works. To those who say that our expenditures for public works and other means for recovery are a waste that we cannot afford, I answer that no country, however rich, can afford the waste of its human resources. Demoralization by vast unemployment is our greatest extravagance. Morally, it is the greatest menace to our social order. Some people try to tell me that we must make up our minds that for the future we shall permanently have millions of unemployed just as other countries have had them for over a decade. What may be necessary for those countries is not my responsibility to determine.

WILL STAND OR FALL ON UNEMPLOYMENT VIEW.

But as for this country, I stand or fall by my refusal to accept as a necessary condition of our future a permanent army of unemployed. On the contrary, we must make a national principle that we will not tolerate a large army of unemployed and that we will arrange our national economy to end our present unemployment as soon as we can and then to take wise measures against its return. I do not want to think that it is the destiny of any American to remain permanently on relief rolls.

Those, fortunately few in number, who are frightened by bold and new decisions, complain that all we have done is unnecessary and subject to great risks. Now that these people are coming out of their storm cellars, they forget that there ever was a storm. They point to England. They would have you believe that England has made progress out of her depression by a do-nothing policy, by letting nature take her course. England has her peculiarities and we have ours. I do not believe any intelligent observer can accuse England of undue orthodoxy in the present emergency.

ENGLAND'S POSITION ON GOLD STANDARD.

Did England let nature take her course? No. Did England hold to the gold standard when her reserves were threatened? No. Has England gone back to the gold standard today? No. Did England hesitate to call in ten billion dollars of her war bonds bearing 5 per cent interest to issue new bonds therefore bearing only 3 1/2 per cent interest, thereby saving the British treasury one hundred and fifty million dollars a year in interest alone? No. And let it be recorded that the British bankers helped. Is it not a fact that since the year 1900, Great Britain in many ways has advanced further along lines of social security than the United States? It is not a fact that relations between capital and labor on the basis of collective bargaining are much further advanced in Great Britain than in the United States? It is perhaps not strange that the conservative British press has told us with pardonable irony that much of our New Deal program is only an attempt to catch up with English reforms that go back 10 years or more.

Nearly all Americans are sensible and calm people. We do not get greatly excited nor over our peace of mind disturbed by the fact that business men or workers or farmers, by awesome pronouncements concerning the unconstitutionality of some of our measures of recovery and relief and the problem which is to provide such annual earnings for the lowest paid worker as will meet his minimum needs. More than twenty years ago, when Theodore Roosevelt and Woodrow Wilson were attempting to correct abuses in our national life, the great Chief Justice, Mr. Brandeis, said in a famous opinion:

WORDS OF CHIEF JUSTICE CITED BY PRESIDENT.

"There is great danger it seems to me that from the constant habit which prevails where anything is opposed or objected to, of referring without rhyme or reason to the constitution as a means of preventing its accomplishment, thus creating the general impression that the constitution is but a barrier to progress instead of being the broad highway through which alone true progress may be enjoyed."

In our efforts for recovery we have avoided on the one hand the theory that business should be left to take over into an all-embracing government. We have avoided on the other hand the equally untenable theory that it is the duty of government to take over the management of private enterprise in need of help. The course we have followed is the American practice of government—a practice of taking action step by step, of regulating only to meet concrete needs—a practice of courageous recognition of change, of belief with Abraham Lincoln, that "the legitimate object of government is to do for a community of people whatever they need to have done but cannot do at all or cannot do so well for themselves in their separate and individual capacities."

I am for a return to that definition of liberty under which for many years a free people were being gradually regimented into the service of the privileged few. I prefer and I am sure you prefer that broader definition of liberty under which we are moving forward to greater freedom, to greater security for the average man than has ever known before in the history of America.

TIME HAS ARRIVED FOR CONCERTED ACTION.

It is time that we make a concerted effort to bring about that united action of management and labor, which is one of the high purposes of the recovery act. We have passed through more than a year of education. Step by step we have created all the government agencies necessary to insure, as a general rule, industrial peace and justice for all those willing to use these agencies whenever their voluntary bargaining fails to produce a necessary agreement.

Let me call attention to the fact that at least a full and fair trial given to these means of ending industrial warfare; and in such an effort we should be able to secure for employers and employees alike the benefits that all derive from the continuous, peaceful operation of our essential enterprises.

WANTS ASSURANCES OF STABLE ACCORDS.

From those willing to join in establishing this hoped-for period of peace, I shall seek assurances of the making and maintenance of agreements, which can be mutually relied upon, under which wages, hours and working conditions may be determined and any later adjustments shall be made either by agreement or, in case of disagreement, through the mediation or arbitration of state or federal agencies.

CHILDED CRITICS JUST EMERGING FROM STORM CELLARS.

He chided critics just emerging from storm cellars and forgetting "there ever was a storm" who contend that new deal policies have inhibited the liberty of the individual and infringed upon the constitution. Approaching the problem of NRA and of the entire relationship between employer and employee, the chief executive praised General Hugh S. Johnson for "able and energetic leadership" in that agency's formative stage.

While industrial recovery had been retarded by strikes, he said their extent and severity had been far less than in any comparable period. Both sides, he added, "must share the blame" for not taking full advantage of conciliatory machinery provided by the government.

Vigorously he denounced the view, advanced by some economists, that the United States must be reconciled to permanent unemployment running into many millions.

"Demoralization caused by vast unemployment is our greatest extravagance," he said. "Morally, it is the greatest menace to our social order. ## NEWTON STYLES HOME CIVILIZATION'S CITADEL

Safety of Nation Depends on Teaching Giving Children, Says Pastor.

"If our homes fail to supply the right sort of citizenship in the present stress which has been thrust upon civilization, everything will be swept into the maelstrom of lawlessness, greed and anarchy," declared Dr. Louis D. Newton, pastor of the Druid Hills Baptist church, in his sermon Sunday evening in which he concluded a series of special sermons on the "Home and Citizenship." Previous subjects have dealt with the home and the Bible, the home and the school, the home and the community, and the home and the church.

"I rejoice to believe that we have many homes, a majority of homes, where mothers count it their highest privilege to breathe to the lisping babies in their arms true reverence for the laws that govern our land. I rejoice to believe that our homes are still the citadels of citizenship. From humble cottages and the finest palaces come sons and daughters nurtured in the doctrine of reverence and observance of law.

"Such must be true, and increasingly so, if we are to save our civilization. The subtle forces at work in our land today will quickly enough undermine the foundations of state and overthrow the superstructure of government unless the constantly increasing stream of good citizens shall come forth, generation by generation, imbued with the love of country and the fidelity to high principles, essential in the upbuilding of any civilization.

HOW PEPPY YOU FEEL DEPENDS ON STOMACH

Did you get up this morning again feeling too sick at your stomach to eat your breakfast? You are not alone. Something yesterday you should have left alone, didn't you?

It's awfully hard to keep passing up the things you like ALL the time. But as long as you let your stomach go like that the excessive acidity will keep you undernourished, underweight, you can't sleep soundly, and you suffer from gas, heartburn, acid indigestion.

Excessive acidity destroys the activity of the vital gastric fluids. . . keeps the stomach irritated. The food you eat can't digest. You've tried many ways to get relief. But you can now really get it with the new preparation called Placidin. Let a three-ounce package of Placidin at a drug store. Drink some water with a teaspoonful of Placidin in it several times during the day, and especially before you retire. See how much better you feel brighter, because the acidity will be wiped out, the stomach contented, and the gastric fluids will become active again. At once, lower price the big package of Placidin costs very little—today!

of the Navajo; Sam Tommy, brother of the late Tony Tommy, chief of the Seminoles; J. B. (Fox) Blythe, leading Cherokee, and Ben Powell, former famous Cherokee ball star.

Record Opening

The Fair and American Indian Exposition got underway Sunday at Lakewood in a debut which surpassed any other opening day in the exposition's history.

While it is true that the Indian congress is a debut, it is likewise true that the fair is bigger and better in the truest sense and is particularly beautiful by reason of its extraordinary beauty on the grounds with an added flavor of the country fair atmosphere that finds one imagining himself at the Century of Progress one minute and at another moment being a regular patron of the "Pumpkin Hollow" annual event.

True it is that the fair on Sunday did not have everything, but what it did have was so far superior to past efforts, so impressive and above expectations that it may be easily anticipated that the 1934 effort will break all attendance records.

Rubin and Cherry carnival did not arrive in town until after dark, but will be ready for the "kiddies" today.

Maestro A. F. Thaviu, of the big revue, urged against the Sunday night showing in order to swing into action in complete fashion tonight.

So the night show will get underway Monday evening at 7:30 with the flash and color, lit of songs and rependence of costumes and electrical effects.

Fine Exhibits

The promise that live stock, agriculture and poultry would get its place under the sun at "the Southeastern" was truly lived up to with fine exhibits in all those departments.

The Panorama of Progress, commercial and industrial exhibits, are of high standard. The building housed the latest models of V-8's.

Indian village activities entertained a huge crowd. An Indian ball game, tribal dances, vocational demonstrations, handcraft displays and the general Indian-like atmosphere of the setting combined to make the exposition the feature spot of the fair grounds.

The government building and trading post with the array of Indian baskets, blankets and trophies gave indication that the original American is a capable workman and farmer, who still clings to his instincts of nativity, and rather welcomes the role he plays at the exposition as being a "part of the show."

A goodly crowd was in the grandstand to see the horse races. Thaviu and his band played as workmen rushed his revue platform to complete the show.

Ralph De Palma was introduced by an announcer. Betsy Ross, little lass of the movies, with her pony, "Roulette," fit the splendidly between the horse races. The latter were marked by many close finishes.

Debut of Night Show. The debut of the night show will come at 7:30 p. m. tonight. Among the principles in the revue are Jean Propper, in Dance Moods; Jeanne LaBoda, prima donna last season with the San Carlos Opera Company; Walmsley & Keating, comedians; Novella & Flora, and Irene Cornell, sensational silver dancers.

The revue also carries 16 of California's most entrancing girls in the chorus, selected for their trained intricate dance routines, and garbed in beautiful costumes.

An augmented band and orchestra will be used during the engagement, and the entire production is under the personal direction of A. F. Thaviu. Although the fair opened Sunday, today is designated as official Opening Day and at 2 o'clock Mayor James L. Roy formally opened the exposition with the dedication of the Indian village, with John S. Collier, United States commissioner of Indian affairs, here as the honored guest. Arrangements have been made for a broadcast of Commissioner Collier's speech.

Midway Arrives. Several thousand persons were on hand last night to greet the arrival of the beautiful "orange and red" special train carrying a cargo of fun and contraptions that will predominate the midway at the fair for the entire week.

The Rubin & Cherry exposition, billed as the "Aristocrat of the Tented World" traveling on its own special train of 30 double-length steel railroad cars, arrived several hours after the scheduled time due to a severe rainstorm at Knoxville. The personnel of 500 troupe members, augmented by 150 local persons, worked exceptionally hard all last night to set up the "portable playground" that is in complete readiness for the gala "Children's Day" program today.

The mammoth amusement park coming here direct from the great Canadian National Exhibition at Toronto, Canada, by way of Knoxville is bringing an entire new group of outstanding features that have met with great success, at towns visited prior to the Atlanta invasion.

By far the most outstanding feature is Cash Miller's "Odities of 1933," wherein a score of life's strangest oddities are featured at every performance of the stellar amusement company's presentations. Wilbur Plumhoff, billed as the "Pain-Proof Man" is featured in the "Oditorium" and during every performance gives a demonstration of painless antics. Plumhoff not only sews buttons to various parts of his body, but sticks pins through the skin, and climaxes his act by driving a spike into his

U. S. INQUIRIES CENTER ON COMMUNICATIONS

Railroads, Airplanes, Radio and Steamship Simultaneously Under Scrutiny.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 30.—(AP)—Four principal modern means of communication—railroads, airplanes, radio and steamship lines—will be on trial simultaneously this week before various government commissions and departments.

Railroads are asking the right to increase freight rates; airline operators are looking to the interstate commerce commission to fix equitable rates for carrying mail; the communications commission begins its study of the allocation of radio facilities; and the postoffice department begins a study of ocean mail contracts.

At the same time, the federal aviation commission will continue its hearings preparatory to recommending a national aviation policy to President Roosevelt.

Three Today.

Three hearings start tomorrow—the railroad rate and air mail rate cases before the interstate commerce commission and the radio hearing before the communications commission. The ocean mail contract hearings start Thursday before postoffice department officials.

The railroad freight rate case will be as bitterly fought by shippers, it is indicated by hundreds of notices of appearances filed, as was that of 1931, when carriers sought a 15 per cent general increase and were allowed to make surcharges on some items which expired late in 1933.

This time the railroads are not asking a general horizontal increase. They have taken classes and commodities and asked specific increases. The increases are designed, the railroads say, to raise $170,000,000 of revenue to partly offset an increase of $200,000,000 a year in expenses caused by restoration of wage rates of members of railroad unions and by additional costs of materials.

Not Enough Money.

The carriers claim that, although operating expenses in 1933 were only half what they were in 1929, they failed to take in enough money to cover operating expenses and interest charges without any allowance for dividends to their stockholders.

The air mail rate hearing is regarded as of primary importance because it is the first time an effort has been made to ascertain actually the proper charges for carrying mail. Congress ordered the interstate commerce commission to make a study and determine the proper payments which must not, however, exceed 40 cents per airplane mile.

The postoffice department plans to oppose any effort to increase the rates now being paid. Some of the present rates were made low by the aviation companies in order to obtain contracts and routes after all existing contracts had been annulled last winter by the postmaster-general. In fact, Postmaster-General Farley will contend that the commission has no authority to increase rates above present contract prices.

The communications commission's study of allocation of radio broadcasting facilities is being made by express mandate of congress. Religious and educational organizations have been contending that they should be given more radio facilities than they now have. The commission will listen to all factions and report to congress next winter.

The postoffice department study of ocean mail contracts is designed to ascertain whether this service can be made more economical. Representatives of 32 holders of ocean mail contracts and four foreign air mail contractors have been summoned to appear before the commission. The contracts should not be cancelled or modified.

U. S. ROUTE 41, IN COOK, WILL BE RESURFACED

VALDOSTA, Ga., Sept. 30.—Federal Highway 41, which is also state highway No. 7, will soon have some much needed improvements made in the upper portion of Cook county according to W. E. Aycock, maintenance supervisor of the highway department, in charge of south Georgia.

No. 7 from Adel northward to the Tift county line has been for some time in a badly worn condition and Mr. Aycock has recommended that it be resurfaced and put in permanent condition, and it is expected that this work will get under way soon.

The road carries most of the motor vehicle traffic into Florida.

WALKER FARMER DIES BY GUN IN OWN HANDS

LAFAYETTE, Ga., Sept. 30.—J. L. Mason, 40, well-known Walker county farmer, succumbed to buckshot wounds said to have been self-inflicted, here early today. Mason, an ex-soldier, has been in ill health.

Agent for Daredevils Buys Cars To Crash at Southeastern Fair

Wilbur (Derby) Weston, contracting agent for B. Ward Beam's International Congress of Daredevils, arrived in Atlanta Sunday for the purpose of purchasing four standard make of pleasure automobiles to be used in head-on collisions that will feature this unusual presentation at the Southeastern fair next Thursday and Friday afternoons.

Weston explained that four automobiles will be necessary for the two performances, as two machines are totally wrecked each time they are collided head-on at 40 miles an hour.

"You see," he explained, "when two machines, each sailing along at 40 miles an hour, hit head-on, everything has to break. In fact, the damage to each car is the same as if a single machine was smashed squarely into a stone wall at 80 miles an hour. There just isn't much left when it's over."

Seeks Junk Dealer.

"In fact, it is also part of my job to see that the debris is hauled away after each crash, so I'll have to make a quick deal tomorrow with some junk dealer to buy four thoroughly wrecked automobiles, sign unseens, and he'll have the pleasure of dragging them away."

The natural question, "What happens to the drivers?" merely provoked one of those imperturbable looks. "It's simply a case of every man for himself when two automobiles crash at that speed, and I sincerely hope neither driver is seriously injured," he answered.

Weston explained that Charles (Nifty) Fargo, of Chicago, a nationally-known stunt man, has signed a contract to drive one machine which will be in the hands of a driver here more than 70 applicants have been received in answer to a classified advertisement for the other driver.

"Mr. Fargo will arrive here sometime Monday and he will pick the man to make the drive against Fargo. He will be accompanied by Mary Wiggins, who will superintend the construction of the two board walls she will attempt to crash with a motorcycle, and the other members of congress will be along the next day," Weston declared.

In addition to the head-on collision and Miss Wiggins' spectacular attempt to ride through two solid board walls on one circuit of the track, the Daredevils will offer a series of championship motorcycle races, somersaulting and roll-over automobiles, Patterson's funny Ford, auto polo, and an ash can derby that is open to Atlanta drivers with machines valued at less than $50.

All prospective ash can derby entrants are urged to send their names, addresses, age and make of cars to Beam, in care of the Southeastern Fair, not later than tonight.

More Super-Liners Urged by O'Connor

WASHINGTON, Sept. 30.—(AP)—Immediate construction of three or more super-liners to meet the competition of European fleets was advocated today by T. V. O'Connor, former chairman of the United States shipping board.

O'Connor said in a prepared statement that such ships, with a speed of 30 knots, would be available for conversion into cruisers for naval use in time of national emergency.

"Words are not enough," O'Connor said, referring to a recent statement by President Roosevelt.

"President Roosevelt should get behind an appropriation of $100,000,000 to build super-liners comparable with our foreign competitors which would also give to American labor more relief per dollar spent than any national recovery project, as 90 per cent of the cost of shipbuilding goes to labor."

Prize Letters Tell Reasons Why Buying in Atlanta Pays

Advantages Enjoyed by Southeastern Merchants Who Trade Here Told by Retailers.

On September 9 The Constitution published its fourth Atlanta Wholesale and Manufacturers' Rotogravure page, telling to the trade of the southeast the many advantages of buying from Atlanta wholesalers and manufacturers.

The Constitution offered in that page, prizes of $50 for the three best articles on the advantages of buying from Atlanta wholesalers and manufacturers.

Wide interest was shown by the merchants in this territory, articles being submitted by merchants in many sections, who are engaged in every line of business.

First Prize Winner. In the contest the first prize of $25 was awarded to Josiah Binsingame, Jersey, Ga., whose article follows:

"Buying from Atlanta wholesalers and manufacturers is of advantage to the merchants of the southeast because:

"Time is saved to the buyer. Atlanta is easily accessible. A buyer's time is valuable. He is needed in his department. He is expected to New York are high. All this can be saved to his firm by patronizing Atlanta manufacturers and wholesalers.

"Time and money are saved in every shipment of goods. Goods are received and sold (if bought in Atlanta) by the time the order is filled in New York, Chicago and other distant markets.

"A buyer may make frequent trips to the Atlanta markets, whereas a trip to New York would only be possible during the August or January opening, with a slight chance maybe of a trip in between. It is a clear-cut fact that to have an up-to-the-minute store, a buyer, be he department store manager or country store owner, must go to his market often.

"Very few of the country and small town merchants ever see line lifelines the northern or western markets.

"Atlanta offers a wonderful opportunity for them to bring their stores up to date. Even the negro in the cotton patch knows what is going on. The merchant must be prepared for every 1934 demand. This he can do, by an inexpensive trip to Atlanta.

"He can and does, use his car as a truck and returns home with goods for a quick turnover, and it's quick turnover that gives a merchant a good night's sleep.

"The day of large orders is over. Merchants demand small orders with privileges to reorder. How quickly a reorder can be delivered from Atlanta. Over-night a solid number will reappear on the shelf.

"A customer comes in for a special order. He'll wait two or three days, but when a clerk says '10 days' the customer's reply is 'I'll look elsewhere.'

"After a merchant or buyer has visited the Atlanta wholesaler or manufacturer, it's an easy matter to order by mail. The salesman know him and the quality of merchandise he wants. To every city store there are 10 or 20 small town stores who do most of their buying by mail. This lacks the necessary personal contact between manufacturers, wholesaler and merchant.

"Atlanta wholesalers and manufacturers know financial conditions in the southeast. A firm's rating, a merchant's character are known. Often credit extended to some small firm, temporarily embarrassed, has meant new life for that firm.

"Atlanta wholesalers and manufacturers are interested in merchants in the southeast.

"They offer the best quality of merchandise, reasonably priced.

"They want our trade.

"We, in turn, have all the above mentioned reasons for trading with them."

Second Winning Letter. The second prize of $15 was awarded to Sol Harelik, Sakhoun Falls, S. C. His article follows:

"The advantages of buying from Atlanta wholesalers and manufacturers are really so numerous that to specify and explain all of them would be impossible. However, the principal reasons, as follows, should be sufficient to convince any merchant who is within several hundred miles of Atlanta (who is not already convinced) that Atlanta is the wholesale market to depend on to help him conduct his business successfully.

"Atlanta wholesalers and manufacturers are most advantageously located in the heart of the great southern cotton-raising section of the country. Since such a tremendous portion of the articles manufactured in the south are made either entirely from cotton or partly from cotton, Atlanta's nearness to the cotton fields secures for the manufacturers the raw material at the minimum cost, enabling them to pass this great advantage on to the merchants, effecting a great saving in the actual cost price of the goods.

"In addition to Atlanta's manufacturers, there are numbers of wholesalers in Atlanta who handle not only Atlanta-made and other southern-made goods, but also all the leading merchandise made in other sections of the country. They carry great stocks of merchandise of most dependable quality, all of the very latest styles, affording merchants as wide a selection and as varied an assortment as shown in any market, and at prices which the writer personally has found by comparison to be absolutely right.

"Atlanta's wholesale and manufacturing firms are individually owned and therefore equipped to give personal service, not available when buying from great corporations. The men at the heads of the Atlanta houses, working for years among their customers, can assist with your many problems and are ready to help at any time in personal attention to your orders.

"Atlanta's wholesalers and manufacturers are ideally located for prompt and economic delivery of merchandise. Many towns in the Atlanta trade territory now enjoy such low express rates, that the heaviest shipment can be made by express, at the same rate as freight with the advantage of overnight delivery service. This results not only in lower delivered prices on the goods, but also quicker delivery of the merchandise, avoiding the possibility of sales being lost while waiting on goods, assuring quicker turnover and therefore more profits.

"While this is listed last, it is by no means least of the advantages, being fully as important as the others—sometimes more so—meaning the difference between having merchandise on time and not having it—therefore the difference between sales made, and what would be sales lost—the goods were ordered from more distant markets.

"And, in conclusion, another advantage is that a merchant may go to Atlanta, at any time, at very little expense and pick up on the floors of the various Atlanta wholesale and manufacturing firms enough bargains to more than justify his trip—particularly in special lots of merchandise—not samples by road salesman."

Third Award. The third prize of $10 was awarded to Mrs. Carl Hall, Blue Ridge, Ga. The article follows:

"The advantages of buying from Atlanta wholesalers and manufacturers and patronizing Atlanta firms who render service to visiting merchants and buyers, are appreciated by the merchants of Georgia and the south-east. Any service, in order to be useful, must be complete. It is possible to stock a store and keep the stock up with Atlanta merchandise exclusively. The merchandise offered by Atlanta wholesalers is clean, new and of excellent quality, and the prices are right. We can sell the goods we buy in Atlanta at a profit.

"Our needs are anticipated, so that we in turn may have merchandise on display before our customers ask for it. We need not hesitate to accept styles offered by Atlanta firms, for they are in constant touch with the leading style centers and after a careful study, offer us merchandise which the people of the south will like and buy. Ready-to-wear and millinery bought in Atlanta sells much more readily than that bought direct from eastern markets. The southern woman demands quality, style, and, to a great extent, conservation.

"Atlanta merchandise is easy to buy. Salesmen from these houses visit us often, so that we keep in touch with what is new. Our stocks may be continuously replenished. These salesmen are unfailingly courteous and helpful. They study our needs and help us to buy, rather than overload us with stock which probably will not sell easily.

"The mail order departments of Atlanta wholesalers and manufacturers are outstanding in the service they render. We have never experienced the slightest disappointment along this line. The firms seem to take a personal interest and try especially hard to please on mail orders. Their stocks are kept up, so that practically anything we order will be shipped to us immediately, with no long and costly waiting.

"It is a pleasure to visit the Atlanta wholesalers and manufacturers. Courteous salesmen and salesladies, often members of the firm, help us to make selections. Dependable staples, intriguing notions, quality footware, millinery, all inspire us to bigger and better merchandising.

"Atlanta is easily accessible to all southeastern merchants. Railroads, highways and airways all lead to Atlanta. Express and freight rates are much less than if we bought from distant markets. This is a large item in overhead and is not overlooked by the wide-awake merchant. We consider the fact, too, that Atlanta hotels, restaurants, theaters and garages offer us unexcelled service and pleasure.

"All of these advantages are worth considering, but perhaps the key to the situation is the fact that we are buying from permanent institutions, largely individually owned. These houses have a wholesome pride in their trade and work hard to keep it."

"The government's objective is twofold—first, to reduce its interest, and second, to keep in the treasury as much as possible of the $1,200,000,000 in cash which otherwise would be paid out.

The offerings to trade the Liberties for 10-12-year obligations largely have come from individuals. They amount to less than half the $500,000,000 taken in exchange, chiefly by banks.

The choice of two obligations was provided, treasury officials said, because it was recognized that many such institutions were anxious to convert part of their bulging government portfolio into shorter maturities.

In the expressed opinion of treasury officials, including that of Morgenthau, the refinancing operation to date is a success.

They called attention to the fact that all but $10,000,000 of $24,000,000 1-2 per cent certificates maturing September 15 and handled as part of the same operation had been refunded with two-year notes bearing the same interest.

FEDERAL INTEREST BILL REDUCED BY TREASURY

Refunding Operations Cut Annual Costs $13,000,000 in Three Weeks.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 30.—(AP)—As a partial answer to critics of New Deal monetary policies, treasury experts calculated today that in three weeks they have clipped about $13,000,000 off the annual interest the government must pay on its public debt.

This was accomplished through a trade with persons who already held fourth Liberty loan bonds bearing 4 1/4 per cent interest. In exchange for those, the bondholders have agreed to take $203,000,000 in 10 to 12-year obligations bearing 3 1/4 per cent and $596,091,000 in 4-year notes bearing 2 1/2 per cent.

The books on the 3 1/4's are still open, so that any who have some of the $1,200,000,000 of called Liberty bonds still may offer to trade. The incentive, from the Liberty bondholder's viewpoint, is to get a new government obligation giving him interest instead of being paid off in cash on October 15.

The government's objective is twofold—first, to reduce its interest, and second, to keep in the treasury as much as possible of the $1,200,000,000 in cash which otherwise would be paid out.

In the expressed opinion of treasury officials, including that of Morgenthau, the refinancing operation to date is a success.

They called attention to the fact that all but $10,000,000 of $24,000,000 1-2 per cent certificates maturing September 15 and handled as part of the same operation had been refunded with two-year notes bearing the same interest.

buying from permanent institutions, largely individually owned. These houses have a wholesome pride in their trade and work hard to keep it."

"The government's objective is twofold—first, to reduce its interest, and second, to keep in the treasury as much as possible of the $1,200,000,000 in cash which otherwise would be paid out.

BEAR FACTS.

There is nothing in the world more appealing than a pair of bear cubs. I mean those that have to be raised on a bottle, then grow to the point where they will wrestle with you for a can of molasses, then, when they get it and find that you have not punched any holes in the top, begin to snarl and growl in mock anger until they get the filling for the ursine sweet tooth. That is the way to know bears, but I am warning against attempting any such frivolity with the first old female bear you meet, especially if she happens to have a pair of roly-poly cubs in the offspring somewhere.

I can never understand the attitude of the average Georgia farmer toward the black bear. I have been going to no little trouble in the past few months conducting a survey of the predatory animals of the state of Georgia. Just as a matter of curiosity I put the black bear on the list of animals about which I was asking for information. It is a striking thing that in the section where bears are reported as being thickest, not one specific instance of damage by bears was mentioned. Yet, in talking with the average farmer, he will tell you that the bear is a predator second to none when it comes to killing pigs. I just

Experience Increases Benefits Of Community Chest, Says Milam

By AUBREY MILAM, (Member City Council and Director of the Community Chest.)

To anyone who is enjoying even the most ordinary comforts of life, who has employment or a reasonable steady income of any kind, there should be no necessity for outlining the real service that is rendered each year by the Community Chest to the needy of Atlanta and of the contribution of this splendid unselfish organization to the social welfare of the community. The plight of those unfortunate who are unable to care for themselves has become increasingly desperate during the past few years and the obligation of the citizenship as a whole has correspondingly increased.

Since the inauguration of the Community Chest many years ago I have been convinced of its value and of the genuine service it could accomplish. The experience of the years has substantiated this conviction, and the faith that the people would support such an organization has proved well founded. I believe that no intelligent person would now abandon the idea of capable organized administration of its welfare agencies for the old individual system with its inherent weaknesses.

As the work progresses the Community Chest has the helpful advantage of added experience in its management and should reap more abundantly of material contributions. These contributions administered in the spirit of human kindness enable the Chest to lift unbearable burdens and remove desperation from many unfortunate homes. Neither the value nor the scope of the work being done by the Chest in this community can be adequately expressed. For those who support it there is no reward except that which comes from knowing that life has been made bearable for some child, some widow or some unfortunate against whom the odds are too great to be carried alone. Since the initial campaign I have helped as best I could. On the eve of another campaign I renew that pledge with the hope that I may be able to be of service for years to come.

"West End is a section in which the majority of the citizens are home owners. We are proud of our homes and are always working to make our community more livable.

"Mr. Burgess, who will head the modernization campaign for West End, typifies the spirit of our people. For this reason we anticipate a

BETTER HOMES RALLY IN WEST END TUESDAY

Ben H. Burgess Heads Community Committee on Home Beautification.

To the strains of "Home, Sweet Home," the citizens of West End will gather at the Joel Chandler Harris school on Lucille avenue to discuss co-operation with the Atlanta better housing campaign. The rally will take place Tuesday at 7:30 o'clock.

Talking pictures explaining the federal housing act, and prominent speakers will be present.

Actually, the black bear is a game animal of considerable value. The state of Pennsylvania has found this true and the state of Georgia would be able to follow this leadership safely if she only would. Our game laws provide an open season for bears; this is wrong now, for they are too rare. They should be trapped alive, transported and cared for until they have repopulated the state. Then open the season under a restricted bag limit. As the law now stands, any man who gets a hunting license can kill every bear in the state if he wants to and can get to them. Enough of protest. Tomorrow we will consider the bear in his true colors, which are black with a bit of brown.

more beautiful section, and if we get the co-operation I am sure will be forthcoming from our people, West End will be a model of what may be done with a beautification and modernization drive. The only drawback to a campaign of this type has been money. This has been eliminated with funds available under the provisions of the federal housing act."

Hitler Wins Scant Applause In Address Before Farmers

Assurance of Better Days Fails To Stir Stolid Ger- mans at National Festi- val.

HAMELIN, Germany, Sept. 30.—(AP)—Adolf Hitler was accorded comparatively scant applause today by 700,000 farmer folk, gathered for the national harvest thanks festival on stunted Buckeburg Hill, for his assurances that better days are coming.

Der Fuehrer exhorted his hearers to put forth greater and greater efforts in the fatherland's financial struggle, and laid down renewed claims that the Nazis had helped the farmer's lot immeasurably.

"Because of a single will and through a single power we are gathered here," Hitler proclaimed in an increasingly hoarse and rasping voice to farmers and their families mingling with reichweiser men and storm troopers on the sun-bathed Weser hills.

"Before January 30, last year, we could not hold our hands together in peace to make life quiet and successful. A single cry of despair came from the whole reich. A third of all Germans were jobless. Outsiders predicted the Nazis could not last more than two or three months. Even today certain people say the Nazis are fighting for their lives."

"We Nazis have not created new worries for the farmers. The most difficult time of our history is behind us. But the farmers must not rest now, with their hands in their laps. Success has come, and people today again have faith. We entered the past winter with worries, but we gathered in 350,000,000 marks for alleviating hunger and want."

Although customary enthusiasm for the fiery oratory of the chancellor in the opinion of some who heard the demonstration was somewhat lacking, the farmers lustily cheered the typically Nazi show prepared as a bid for their greater support—military displays, crowds, banners, music.

Harvest celebrations on a smaller scale were held throughout the reich. Parades were conducted in a number of localities.

This was nazidom's second harvest festival, motivated by a desire for greater agricultural production with which to carry out the national wish for trade and commercial economy. It was organized with a view to giving the farmers a pat on the back, like the pat on the back given to other groups, and to give for the forthcoming winter. Prospects for that season are acknowledgedly none too good.

RUNOVER CANDIDATES HAVE NOT QUALIFIED

Councilman H. Parks Rusk, runner-up in his race for reelection in last Wednesday's primary to succeed himself as 13th ward councilman and Thomas J. Grogan, high-vote getter in the second ward board of education race, must qualify for the October 10 runoff races by 4:30 o'clock this afternoon.

Grogan announced Sunday night that he would qualify at 9 o'clock this morning and issued a challenge to Louis Gaffen, his opponent, to meet him in a two-point debate "so that the citizens of the second ward may select the man who shows himself to be the best qualified for the honor of representing them."

"The people of the second ward should be given the advantage of knowing what each of us stand for and I challenge my opponent to meet me in a joint debate at the Grey street school at 7:30 o'clock Friday night and at the same time the following Tuesday night so that the voters can hear what each of us have to offer as their representative on the board of education," Grogan said.

Former Alderman Alvin L. Richards, who obtained the highest number of votes in the 13th ward councilmanic contest, and Louis Gaffen, runner-up in the second ward contest, already have qualified.

The only other runner-up was assured Saturday when W. Garland Cooper and C. M. (Mac) Bolen, high-vote getter and runner-up, respectively, in the 10th ward councilmanic battle, qualified.

If Rusk or Grogan fail to qualify, the city democratic executive committee, under its rules, may refuse to declare a nominee and reopen lists and conduct another primary just in case no contest had been made for the posts in question.

Cuban Radicals Routed After Fatal Rioting

A group of radical students who staged a demonstration in a Camaguey cemetery today were dispersed by police.

'Young and Beautiful,' Plays Four theaters

Quite pleasing proved "Young and Beautiful," the production which brings for your critical attention a dozen of the most beautiful girls of 1934, the Wampus Baby Stars of this year. The picture showed, for its first run in Atlanta, at the Buckhead, the Hill and the Madison theaters yesterday and will be presented today at the College Park theater, where they do not have Sunday performances.

This first-run showing in a group of neighborhood houses is a new presentation idea for Atlanta, by the way, one that is being watched with more than ordinary interest by all exhibitors and producers alike. The idea is that the combined houses have as many seats as the largest of the downtown first-run theaters and that a picture, therefore has at least as good a chance to play to as many patrons as those shown downtown. The neighborhood theaters also claim greater convenience for their patrons, in that they may attend the house nearest home, with no automobile parking or traffic worries and in the intimate comfort of the smaller house.

The picture, "Young and Beautiful," is not elaborate, but it presents its girls attractively, has several good song numbers well sung and with sufficient background spectacle to please and tells an interesting story of behind-the-scenes life in Hollywood.

Judith Allen, one of the more alluring of the new player crop, plays the role of the budding star who would prefer domesticity with the man of her heart. Said M. O. H. H., however, is a studio press agent, enacted by William Haines. And he lets his love of the printed spurge outweigh his private affections and so makes a star of the girl, who he or won't she.

The end has the conventional wedding bells, happy finish, but the present activities ever then make quiet domestic bliss doubtful.

And the Wampus beauties are really and truly lovely. More experience will add to their theater ability, doubtless.

Many Activities Mark This Week's Wesley Fellowship Of Atlanta Names Mr. Cox President

The week of October 1-6, finds every department, club and committee in the Y. W. C. A. offering new classes, entertaining activities and wholesome recreation to girls and women. The highlight of the week will be the luncheon given Friday honoring Community Chest officers and campaign managers, as well as all new members who have joined the Y. in the past few months. The luncheon, which begins at 12:30 p. m., will be given by the membership department. The first Friday in each month will be preceded by meetings of the health education, membership, Camp Highland and Girl Reserve departments. Other committees, board members and Y. W. C. A. members are cordially invited to attend the luncheon Friday at 12:30 o'clock, 37 Auburn.

Attractive to home women and business women who do not belong to Y. W. C. A. clubs are the classes in current events, home decoration and sewing, sponsored by the membership department. Those chairman, Mrs. Charles T. Winslow, is developing and explaining the educational phases of Y. programs. Mrs. Richard Battle, who interprets news accounts in the most helpful and entertaining manner, will conduct the current events class twice a week. On Monday mornings the class will be held at the Y. residence, 82 Baker street, N. W., and on Thursday mornings at the Y. residence, 1030 1/2 street, N. W. Lessons will be given in a series of 10, with the privilege of attending either class once a week. For business women there will be a class on Thursday evenings at 6:30 o'clock and Mrs. Battle invites those who attended the Alpha and Beta current events classes two years ago to join this group.

Miss Lillian Williamson, who has a wide following because of her work with the Smith-Hughes classes and her former club work and private instruction, will be at the Y. W. C. A. on Mondays and Fridays. Her studio, the young married housekeepers will learn how to make inexpensive Christmas gifts, new draperies and upholstery, redecorate their homes and other novelties. Children's clothes, remodeling and dress designing will be taught in the sewing classes on Fridays, with much attention given to individual problems.

Health Education Classes. Those interested in keeping fit and trim by regular exercise will enjoy the classes planned by the Y. health education department featuring morning, afternoon and evening classes and swimming periods. Gym classes for small boys on Monday afternoons; for small girls on Thursday, as well as the regular swimming classes on Saturday mornings, provide wholesome recreation for children. Miss Frances Keller, physical director, asks that everyone planning to join these classes bring their physical examination from a Y. doctor up-to-date and register this work, as exercises begin promptly October 8 and a delay in registering will cause a delay in the program. Payments for the term are arranged by installments and should be paid by October 10.

"Four Bottles Helped Me"

Feels Fine... Never Tired

"My four children were born close together. I lived on a farm with lots of work to do and I got all run down so I could hardly go. Four bottles of your Vegetable Compound helped me wonderfully. Twice since then I had to take several bottles to regulate and strengthen me. I take care of my house and children, do all my laundry and do home work for a garment factory, and I feel fine and never get tired. I have also used the Sarsaparilla and it relieved my trouble."—Mrs. E. S. Pittenger, 55 Conklin Ave., Brooklyn, N. Y.

Lillian Mae Patterns

PATTERN 2040

Never in the annals of fashion has there been a fashion more photographed and parodied than the famous "Buster" dress. This dress is the clever young American who has for several years had Paris at his feet, the originator of the idea. He developed it from the smoke French porters wear—and the style took America by storm. This model is modified so as to be becoming to the average figure. It is a simple dress, made of a single piece of fabric, and is a thing to make—and stunning! And if, of course, Claire immediately did the girl said that their instructor had them do that 20 times in the morning and 20 times at night.

Then for a flat abdomen she gave them a number of exercises. First was the old but always good one of standing close to the wall. Bring the heels together with backs of heels touching the wall. Try to touch the wall with all parts of the body from back of heels up to back of head. This pulls in the "tail feathers" and helps to prevent "sway back."

Then, the instructor told the girls to stand wherever they might be and pull the abdomen in with "tail feathers" pulled in the same time. She said they could do this every time during a day that they thought of it. Waiting for a street car or an elevator, standing at the sink, any time, at any time, was right for this slight exercise. It flattens the abdomen and pulls the "tail feathers" in at the same time, doing away with spare tires at waist and away back.

A Remarkable Eye Bath for People Who Have Been Seeing Too Much

By MIGNON. Menthol and camphor have been good old standbys for many years, and always some one is finding a new use for them. While I haven't the slightest idea what the formula is, I have found an eye bath that is just about the last word in comfort. Come home from work, or shopping, or tea, or cocktail—whatever happens to be your choice—and put a wad of cotton wet with this lotion over your eyes. Then take a 15-minute rest. When you get up you will think layers of clouds have rolled away. Camphor is my guess, because the effect of camphor comes with every sniff. What else it contains I don't know, but I am already an addict.

The best part of lotions for this use is that they don't have to be put into the eyes. I have a horror of putting things into my eyes. You can always get new shoes and new gowns and a new lipstick. But you can't replace your eyesight at any shop. I've heard of it, and it behooves you to take good care of it. You can dispense with almost anything else, but you can't do without your eyes. A reliable house has put forth this lotion and I don't hesitate a moment to tell you that it is excellent and not expensive. You get a large bottle for a moderate sum and it lasts a long time.

If you want to know where you can purchase any article mentioned in this column please write to The Constitution office. Please do not write unless you live outside the city, which case enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Good Posture Does Not Happen, It Has To Be Worked At
By FLORENCE LA GANKE.

Claire Lacey was listening intently to the report given by a classmate of hers who had been taking lessons in posture and in body care. "We did the simplest exercise for strengthening the muscles of the chest, for developing and firming the bust and for straightening the shoulders."

"We stood erect and put our hands in front of us, oh about 12 inches. We held them slightly above the waist. Then we put our fingers together as shown in the illustration and pressed together just as tightly as we could. Then we relaxed them. The movement pulled the chest muscles up and out. There is a decided lift to the bust as you will find if you try it." Which, of course, Claire immediately did. The girl said that their instructor had them do that 20 times in the morning and 20 times at night.

Then for a flat abdomen she gave them a number of exercises. First was the old but always good one of standing close to the wall. Bring the heels together with backs of heels touching the wall. ### Depression Checks TB Death Rate Drop

NEW YORK, Sept. 30.—(AP)—Tuberculosis is showing a decline in the national health during depression in a survey issued tonight by Godias J. Drolet, of the New York Tuberculosis and Health Association.

Its death rate is still falling, but at a lesser rate than for several years. Its drop is 4 per cent against previous declines, which have run as high as 11 per cent in a single year.

Further, in 110 large cities the rate has been rising. The survey compares 1933 with the previous year. The 1933 death rate for 39 largest American cities is 72 per 100,000 population, which is an average decline of 4 per cent.

In the country as a whole the decline is 6 per cent, showing tuberculosis more prevalent in large centers. But the figures indicate sharply that size of a city is less important than its health measures, for all five of the biggest cities, each with more than 1,000,000 population, showed declines in tuberculosis deaths.

Household Arts By ALICE BROOKS

Are you making an afghan? If you are, you'd better get started, for everybody's doing it. There are no scraps of wool! The tips can be carried out in a different color in each block, or even in different shades of one color in each block. The alternate block is made of scraps of wool just as they come to hand—and the more variety there is the better! A dark background—black or dark brown—sets off the flowers and should be used liberally in the alternate square also. This afghan has another most attractive feature—you can use it on both sides, because there is no right or wrong side to it. This practical feature will appeal most decidedly to the wise needlewoman. The design will also make lovely cushions.

In pattern 5214 you will find detailed instructions for making the afghan; illustrations of the finished article of all stitches needed; material requirements; color suggestions.

To obtain this pattern send 10 cents to Household Arts Dept., The Constitution, Atlanta, Ga.

Styles by Annette.

EXCEPTIONALLY ATTRACTIVE FOR ALL ITS SIMPLICITY.

Cooler days are coming along and with them the need for smart little woolen dresses.

A charming little French dress in raspberry hairy tweed woolen gave inspiration for this simple wearable model. The color and fabric are of the same shade caught with a gold buckle, that matches the gold belt buckle.

The main structure suggests a straight dress with slender skirt and bodice with raglan shoulders so easily handled by the home seamstress. No sleeves to set in, no collar, no cuffs, no waist, no belt, no buttons, no ties, no lace, no trim, no fuss, no bother, no expense, no time, no effort.

This model is also smart in canton crepe, rayons that look like wool, printed velveteen, etc.

Style No. 952 is designed for sizes 14, 16, 18, 20, 22, 24, 26, 28 and 30. Size 16 requires 3-3/4 yards of 39-inch material with 3-8 yard of 30-inch contrast fabric.

The Guide to Chic. Back from a glorious vacation and looking your healthiest, most beautiful self with a very flat pocket-book? Don't let this worry you, for with a little careful planning, and this book of new fashions, you can have a very smart wardrobe at little expense of time and effort. ## DOROTHY KIRBY STARTS TODAY IN NATIONAL Atlanta Girl Seeks To Qualify at Same Age Bobby Began.

By Bob Cavagnaro, Associated Press Sports Writer.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 30.—(AP)—Six starry-eyed youngsters, averaging 16 years in age and playing in the blue ribbon event of American women's golf for the first time—the national championship—stand out among the 148 golfers who will challenge the two-year reign of Virginia Vile.

Championship play opens tomorrow at 8 a. m. with an 18-hole qualifying round. The qualifying field is limited to 64 and six rounds of 18-hole match play will follow, with the 36-hole final Saturday.

These precocious competitors—the youngest is 14 and the oldest 17—along with 12 foreign entries, make the 38th annual tournament the greatest ever held in this country.

OUTSTANDING STAR. The outstanding performer of the youth contingent is 16-year-old Betty Jameson, of Dallas, winner of the southern championship this year. Betty has been on the scene of the tournament, the Whitmarsh Country Club, for several days, and although she is a little fidgety over her debut, she has displayed calmness and steadiness in practice.

Rated after the blond Texan is 17-year-old Pamela (Pam) Barton, the stocky English lass who started British golf disciplines this summer by going to the finals of her native championship. She played the 6,248-yard course today for the first time.

Other youngsters are Dorothy Kirby, 14, of Atlanta, who won the 1934 Georgia state championship, and like her famous fellow citizen, Bob Jones, is playing in a national championship for the first time at 14 years of age and in the Philadelphia district—Jones made his bow in the amateur at Merion in 1916—Betty MacLeod, of Buffalo, 16; Gail Wild, of Cranford, N. J., 17; and Dorothy Traub, 16, of San Francisco.

BRITISH INVADERS. The British empire invaders include Mollie Gourlay, Mrs. J. B. (Pat) Walker, Diana (Daisy) Plimpton, Mrs. George Coats, Mrs. Alice Gold, Doris Chambers, Diana Fishwick and Doria Morgan, in addition to Pam Barton, from England; Ada MacKenzie, former Canadian titlist, and Mrs. F. J. Mulqueen, of Toronto, and Nancy Pearson, Bermuda champion.

Also in the field are the sturdy American campaigners as Glenna Collett Vare, five times former champion; Maureen O'Connell, of Englewood, N. J.; Charlotte Glutting, of South Orange, N. J.; Mrs. Leona Chown, San Gabriel, Cal.; and Mrs. Opal Hill, of Kansas City.

THE SPORTLIGHT

(Copyright, 1934, by The Constitution and the North American Newspaper Alliance.)

THE NATIONAL ANTHEM.

Let statesmen nurse their wounded pride,
Let scholars grope in fog and doubt;
Let baffled nations stand aside
Amid the whirlpool and the rout—
We'll let the golden lyric flow
For Dixie Dean and School Boy Rowe!

The world is dark with greed and hate,
Too many millions face defeat—
But there's a clamor at the gate
That rolls and runs by stream and street—
Let shining laurels crown the scene
For School Boy Rowe and Dixie Dean!

Who says romance is gray with age,
That men no longer battle odds,
When two boys from brush and sage
Still face the lightning of the gods?
Can life be stupid, drab or slow
With Mickey, Dix and Daz and Rowe?

Ho!—Tiger waiting for the rush,
Be on your guard against a fall;
Two cobras lurk within the brush,
Whose names are Dixie Dean and Paul;
Their deadly fangs are set to kill,
But Rowe is waiting for them still.

"Watch the Cardinals!"—Terry.
I sat with Bill Terry in the giant dugout just before the final splash of the season came with the embattled Red Sox. The Cardinals were in the lead, surrounded by 45,000 fans, naturally dejected and low in spirit—but without a squawk. Always direct and to the point, Terry made this statement:

"The race is over and we are licked. But the Cardinals today will give the Tigers a far better battle than we could put up. The present mental state, they are fresh and keen and coming on. And they have those two Deans—who are 100 per cent pure poison for anybody."

"I know the Tigers are good and I know they have a great pitcher in Daz. But the Cardinals are better. I proved that he could take it, anyway."

Schoolboy Rowe. But I'd hate to have the job of beating those two Deans four times in seven days. We couldn't beat them twice in 14 starts."

A short while later, the Dodgers had rumbled up the Giants again, as Dixie Dean was mowing down the Reds with the same old fusillade that gave him 30 victories for the year.

When the Cardinals scores went up, indicating a new National league champion, 20,000 Brooklyn fans broke into a roar that carried a mixture of vengeance, hate and triumph combined. It was a cheer and a snarl mixed together, and it boiled into the stadium, a change of expression. Bill proved that he could take it, anyway."

By Dan McGugin, Head Football Coach, Vanderbilt University. (Copyright, 1934, by The Constitution and the North American Newspaper Alliance.)

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Sept. 30.—Georgia, Tennessee, Alabama and Tulane in their first opportunities of the football season demonstrated that they will have fine running attacks.

Tennessee had a good center team in check and scored 32 points at will with a mixture of fine running and skillful passing. Georgia scored 42 points against Stetson, making 20 first downs and nearly 500 yards. She uncorked a brilliant sophomore back in Glenn Johnson.

This Harry Mehre is an A-1 developer of brilliant backs. Tulane scored 41 points on a good Chattanooga team and Alabama 24 points mainly by a powerful and well-organized running attack against a first-class Howard team. These are ominous signs for other coaches, and full of potential headaches.

Seawane was nosed out by the low-possible score, 2 to 0, by Southern. After losing to Birmingham Southern, a veteran team, Auburn showed the stuff that good teams are made of by coming right back and scoring 15 to 0 against Oglethorpe. Florida was better against Rollins than it was against the Seminoles. Captain MackKee's Mississippians were splendidly coached—a deadly tackling crowd, with plenty of strength and power. Mississippi State showed in a manner to strike consternation into future opponents by scoring 48 points on Virginia Military Institute. North Carolina, under Johnny Ray, a sophomore, was unusually impressive in her one-sided victory over Wake Forest.

The high points of Saturday's games were the remarkable scoring ability of Tennessee, Georgia, Tulane, Alabama and Duke, despite the earliness of the season, and the brilliance of Johnson of Georgia, Hinson, of Clemson, and the astonishing passing ability of Armstrong, of Mississippi State.

Over in the other conference, Duke performed in a manner to strike consternation into future opponents by scoring 48 points on Virginia Military Institute. North Carolina, under Johnny Ray, a sophomore, was unusually impressive in her one-sided victory over Wake Forest.

Brooklyn Star Hurler Frequent Visitor Here; He Is Nap Rucker's Protege.

By Jimmy Jones.

Van Lingle Mungo, the southern boy who really erased Colonel Bull Terry and his New York Giants from the National league picture with that 5-1 game that he pitched for Brooklyn Saturday, is a very well known figure in Atlanta during the mule-baiting season.

There are, in fact, a lot of mule dealers in the city who can tell you a great deal about Van Mungo—maybe not so much about his ability to throw the baseball, but considerable about his keen business acumen as a judge of mule flesh. And they say that Van really knows a good mule when he sees one, whether it is a Missouri mule or a Georgia mule.

Mungo, who is a native of Page, Ga., is a native of Page, Ga. His father owns a big cotton plantation there and twice each year he sends young Van down to Atlanta to look over the latest shipment of mules to the market here.

Atlanta, it is said, boasts the best mule market in the country, next to that of St. Louis, and buyers come here from miles around during the rush season on that particular animal.

FRIEND OF MANN. Earl Mann, the business manager of the Crackers, is a good friend of the Brooklyn pitcher. And last year when Van was down here buying mules, he called Earl up on the telephone.

"What in the heck are you doing here?" Mungo asked Mann, with whom he became quite chummy when he (Mann) was secretary of the Hartford club in the Eastern league and Van was its star pitcher.

"I'm here to look over some mules," replied Mungo. "Would you like to come down to the market and join me?"

Mr. Mann, who knows nothing whatever about mules, being a city-bred boy, said no thank you, but was certainly startled to learn that Mungo was an expert on that particular commodity.

NAP "DISCOVERED" HIM. Mungo, who has been with the Brooklyn club since 1931, is a protégé of Nap Rucker, the distinguished left-handed citizen of Roswell, Ga. Nap discovered him when he was pitching in the Piedmont league and purchased him in the fall of 1932, sending him to Macon, then to Hartford, where he developed into the strike king of the Eastern league.

Nap Rucker always said that Van Mungo would make a great pitcher. Nap became sold on his speed and size the first time he saw him pitching the mules. Van is a cranky, cranky fellow, being 6 feet 3, and weighing 204 pounds.

Mungo has always been a great fast ball pitcher. In a pitching test, he threw a 90-mile-per-hour ball.

There was no holding the mad Brooklyn thereafter, Schumacher tried to get him out of the team, but the hard campaign, was both wild and ineffective. He promptly pitched Leslie home from second base.

Leslie was reported second on the down force-out of Len Koenek, after the latter had singled Buzz Boyle home from second with the last run of the inning.

That wild pitch itself was an example of the fierce, embattled kind of ball they were playing. The ball hit the batter, Dodge, right in the head, and he was out.

Instantly Glenn Chapman, a Brooklyn rookie outfielder, swept aside the bats so there'd be a clear path for the ball. The crowd roared and the game was on.

But all this brilliant thinking failed in the end, for the Cardinals, who had been so good in the first half, were now in a hopeless position, and as fate would have it, the turn came for another World Series hero, Ryan, to fail.

Johnson smashed a grounder to his right, and Leslie knocked it up, dropped it again, and it was too late to make a play anywhere and Leslie was over the plate with the only run of the game.

Leslie was full with two out in their seventh inning, and it was a seven-game lead, losing 13 to 23. It seemed as though every fan in the park resented the situation, somehow.

Giants Vote On Series Slice NEW YORK, Sept. 30.—(AP)—It did not mean anything as far as first prize was concerned, but the Giants, before their final game today with the Dodgers, met in a clubhouse and decided they would split up their World Series dividend.

The division was on the basis of 26 2/3 full shares, with 22 players, 240 per cent of the total, and Trainer Willie Schaefer also receiving full shares. Hank Leiber and Phil Weintraub, rookie outfielders, were voted three-quarters and half shares, respectively, and Jack Salmons, young pitcher who came here with late in the season, also was awarded a half share.

CANCEL SPECIAL. The Giants' traveling department was in a disorganized state, but, hoping for the best, plans had been made for a special train to carry the troupe to St. Louis. The train was canceled by phone.

As the anxiety over the happenings in St. Louis approached the jittering point, a great roar of derision arose from the mob, the glance of the board revealed the reason. The Cardinals had scored two in the first and the New York patrons were enjoying another routing historical for the expense of their own team. Moreover, at this particular moment the daffies were clocking another run for themselves in their fourth inning. Len Koenek hit a double, and Leslie brought him in with a single to center. Both athletes were former members of the Giants, so there could have been something Especially is this invitation directed to proprietors and managers of partment and general merchandise

C. Allen to out-of-town retailers. The

Steady Sales Gains Shown By East Point Chevrolet Co.

E. D. JONES.

J. R. BROWN.

New car sales thus far in 1934 have been better than in any year since 1929, and the demand for reconditioned used cars has been relatively good, according to J. R. Brown, assistant sales manager, and E. D.
Jones, newly appointed used car manager of the East Point Chevrolet Company.

This rising demand for both new and reconditioned cars, declares D. L.
O'Neal, president, reflects a positive betterment of feeling and an increasing confidence on the part of the buying public in future business improvement.

The new car sales department of the East Point Chevrolet Company is prepared to make immediate delivery on both standard and master model cars.

Its used car department, adjoining the main plant of the East Point Chevrolet Company, maintains at all times a widely varied stock of thoroughly reconditioned cars, from which any prospective purchaser should be able to select one to suit his needs.

One factor considered of special significance in the increasing demand for East Point Chevrolet Company used cars is the manner in which they are thoroughly reconditioned. Countless satisfied buyers in the past have passed the word along to friends, and in this way a buying clientele has been established throughout the state.

The rapidly gaining popularity of the 1934 Chevrolet is attributed largely to this year's introduction of Kne Action, which has met with instant and continued approval. "We predict," says Mr. O'Neal, "that within a short time all cars in the low-priced field will be compelled to come to Kne Action."

NEW AND FLEXIBLE POLICY IS OFFERED BY UNION CENTRAL

Multiple Protection for Family or Business Provided by Popular Contract Just Introduced.

Designed to fulfill a vital need of both family and business, the newly-introduced Multiple Protection Policy of the Union Central Life Insurance Company is meeting with the most enthusiastic reception ever given a new contract, declares Julian V. Boehm, special agent and member of Union
Central's 500,000 Club.

"Union Central actuaries," says Mr.
Boehm, "have worked out a plan which provides to the beneficiary for a period of 20 years a regular $100 monthly income, equivalent to the income, at 4 per cent, on $30,000. At the end of this income period, the beneficiary receives a lump sum of $10,000, in addition to more than half that amount in surplus interest (based on the 1934 rate).

"The Union Central's Multiple Protection Policy, as adopted to business needs, first provides business protection insurance at a far more reasonable rate than heretofore, and secondly, incorporates a marked degree of flexibility to meet changing conditions in the future."

For example, he points out, the business contract carries an option making it possible to increase the face amount of permanent protection to more than twice its original figure.
This option is available up to 15 years without medical examination.

In order to fully explain the Multiple Protection plan and to show some of its practical applications, the Union
Central has published two booklets—
"Multiple Protection for Your Family" and "Multiple Protection for Your Business"—which may be obtained upon request to the Atlanta agency offices in the tenth floor of the First National Bank building. A special agent thoroughly conversant with every detail and advantage of the Multiple Protection contract will gladly call upon request, to explain in detail this new but already popular plan.

Georgia Roofing & Supply Company Offers Experts' NHA Loan Advice to Home Owners

The owner of the attractive Atlanta home shown above was one of the first residents of the city to take advantage of the provisions of the national housing act to roof his home with Flintkote shingles, applied and guaranteed by the Georgia Roofing & Supply Company, 52 Mangum street, N. W.

Representatives of the Georgia
Roofing & Supply Company, thoroughly conversant with provisions of the NHA, have proven most helpful to Atlanta home owners who have sought federal loans for home modernization and repairs. To date, more than a score prospective NHA borrowers have taken advantage of this expert advice.

The enterprising representatives of the Georgia Roofing & Supply Company, says F. M. Petet, general sales manager of the roofing department, were among the first to grasp the opportunity presented by the NHA.
All had prospective roofing customers who approved their roofs and their very moderate prices for roofing color and style to suit every home, large or small.

On September 22 and 23, the staffs of the Southern Roofing and Insulating Company, of Augusta, and the Georgia Roofing Supply Company, of Macon, met with the parent company in Atlanta and reviewed the provisions of the national housing act.
In a most enthusiastic meeting the members of the three groups pledged their fullest co-operation to the success of the national housing program.

TARZAN AND THE LION MAN

No. 13

As Rhonda sat at the writing table, Gordon Z. Marcus approached. She picked up the folded parchment and said to him: "I just found this map in my portfolio. In the last scene we shot we were taking close-ups of me examining it. I wonder if they want it again. I'd like to swipe it as a souvenir."

DRIVE CAREFULLY TODAY

"No," Rhonda answered. "The author of the story we're shooting found it between the leaves of a book he bought in a second-hand store. It interested him, and he wrote our story around this old map. Intriguing, isn't it? Almost makes one believe that by following it, one could find a real Valley of Diamonds."
